Former officer sues county, sheriff

BY RICHARD MEEK
A former Hancock County officer has filed a discrimination suit in federal court against Hancock County and Sheriff Ronnie Peterson.

Xavier D. Martinez, in a six-page complaint, claims he was denied "training and promotions which other non-Hispanic officers of different national origin were allowed," by Peterson. He is being represented by attorney Harold Grissom of Gulfport.

Additionally, it is alleged that Peterson allowed other officers to participate "in a pattern of conduct" which discriminated against Martinez.

According to the suit filed in the U.S. District Court's Southern District on April 24, this conduct included "harassment and repeated abuse concerning (Martinez's) national origin, descent, and ancestry. (Peterson and jail officials) turned their heads to a course of conduct that was verbally and physically abusive."

Martinez claims that Peterson permitted other officers to use a number of racial slurs against Martinez.

"Each officer was so egregious that they ridicule (Martinez) by asking if their comments are discrimination," the suit claims. "These intentional acts were done without right or justifiable cause."

Martinez began employment at the sheriff's department on April 5, 1993. He was initially hired as a part-time employee correctional officer, but was later hired on a full-time basis.

The suit also claims Martinez was denied an opportunity for promotion because of his Hispanic origins. He filed a charge of discrimination against the county on March 15, 1995. A Right to Sue letter was issued to Martinez on Jan. 29, 1996.

Favre to jail

BY BETSY GAGNET
Scott Favre is going to prison.

After violating the house arrest that was part of the sentence he received in March when he pleaded guilty to felony DUI involving a death, Favre will serve out his time in a Mississippi prison.

Under present rules, Favre will be required to serve at least 12 years and nine months of his 15-year sentence before he is eligible for parole.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson, Favre was transferred out of the Hancock County jail Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. by Mississippi Department of Corrections. Peterson was not certain where Favre would be taken, since MDOC does not usually disclose that information, he said.

Favre, the brother of Green Bay quarterback Brett Favre, was stopped in Diamondhead by Hancock County sheriff's deputies Monday morning while driving on an unauthorized outing with a suspended driver's license, constituting a violation of his house arrest.

The Mississippi Department of Corrections was notified and a warrant was issued, for Favre's arrest. On Tuesday,

Hospital road work temporarily on hold

BY ED LEPOMA
Improvements to major roads surrounding Hancock Medical Center are temporarily on hold after at least three Hancock County supervisors raised concerns about the project.

Supervisors voted 3-2 to reject improvements planned on posed with a median separating the two lanes. Drinkwater going north would also be widened and sub-surface drainage would be installed on Drinkwater and Green Meadow Road.

Vanney said the project would require taking a little more than one acre of county

Drinkwater Drive and Green Meadow Road that links to Blue Meadow Road, the artery most traveled by visitors going to Casino Magic. The project had earlier passed muster at the hospital's Board of Directors.

Bay St. Louis public works chief, Ron Vanney, explained to supervisors that the city had $670,000 in unused road funds, and decided on improving the streets because of the expansion going on at the hospital, and expectations that the medical complex would attract additional professional offices.

The city envisioned two-12-foot wide lanes for Drinkwater as it comes off Hwy. 90. A boulevard-type road was proposed to realign the road in front of the hospital and as it curved north to link with Green Meadow Road.

The project is expected to cost around $1 million, Vanney said, and the city already has the plans drawn.

Dist. 1 Supervisor Jeep Ladner was the first to raise concerns. "I'm worried about people using it for a shortcut to the casino," said Ladner.

"That possibility was never considered, never approached," said Vanney. He said the project was proposed, mainly because the alignment of the road was causing problems off Hwy. 90, and the road improvements

Escaped trusty still at large

BY RICHARD MEEK
A Hancock County trusty who escaped Saturday afternoon remains at large.

County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said it is believed that Michael Nelson, 28, is in the area of his Lacombe, La., home.

"We feel like he is in the Lacombe area," said Peterson. "We'll get him back."

Nelson has been jailed for the past six months on a drug charge. The charge carries a possible three-year sentence, but because it was his first offense, Peterson said he possibly would have received probation.

When captured, Nelson will face an additional charge of jail escape, for which he could serve another five years in the state penitentiary in Parchman.

Michael Ladner new HHS coach

BY RICHARD MEEK
Former Hancock North Central player Michael Ladner was hired Wednesday night as the boys basketball coach at Hancock High School, fulfilling what he calls his "childhood dream" to coach the Hawks.

Ladner, son of Mississippi's all-time winningest high school basketball coach Roland Ladner, has been the girls' assistant at the University of Memphis since 1991. Ladner graduated in 1981 from HNC, where he earned several athletic and academic awards. He was voted Mr. Hancock North Central in his senior year.

"Hancock has a rich tradition, not only in basketball but in all sports," Ladner said from his Memphis home. "I think it's important that I have a link to the past."

"There are enough people that know (the tradition) well."

In his sophomore season, Ladner was backup guard to Dean Shaw, currently the head coach at Picayune. That team finished second in the state tournament, losing to Stone County when officials waved off a last second tip-in.

The Hawks were 25-7 in Ladner's junior year but failed to make the state playoffs when East Central stunned

Waveland, Bay St. Louis to help district solve drainage problem

BY MICHAEL LEMKE
City officials from Bay St. Louis and Waveland have chipped in to help the Bay St. Louis Waveland School District solve a nagging drainage problem at the football field.

The board approved Waveland Public Utilities Director Steve Landry to study and design the drainage problem. City crews from Bay St. Louis will provide the labor.

Drainage has plagued the field since a new track facility was completed last fall. Apparently, the track is acting as a dam and restricting the flow of water from the field.

Bay High was forced to cancel two home soccer games because of unsuitable field conditions. Other games were played only after Tiger coach Ken Matthews and volunteers pumped water off of the field.

Board members rejected superintendent Dr. Mike Reed's recommendation to pay local engineer James Cliniche up to $6,000 for a study at the field. Cliniche's detailed bid included charging the district $70 an hour for a professional engineer, up to $80 an hour for a four-man work crew, and $55 an hour for clerical services.

Am I the only one who finds $6,000 high? board member Bryan Griffith asked. "The answer is a lot of money."

Reed agreed, saying "It is a lot of money for clerical work." It was then that board attorney Ronnie Artigue Jr. reported Waveland Mayor John Mason said Landry would put together a plan for "very minimal expenses."

Later, Reed revealed that Bay St. Louis had offered to provide the labor.

The board unanimously agreed to accept Cliniche's bid and accept the offers from Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

The first football game at the stadium is a junior varsity contest on Aug. 15 when Bay High hosts Hattiesburg.

In other matters, the board moved forward with plans to renovate a classroom at Bay High for a pilot Family and Consumer Science course to be taught beginning in the fall. The course will address daily living skills, including parenting decisions, nutrition and fitness, mental, family, personal and social health, substance abuse prevention, personal finances, and consumer health.

The Mississippi Department of Education is picking up the $70,000 in costs to renovate the classroom and buy supplies, which includes some fitness equipment.

Reed said the district is one of 16 statewide selected for the program.

The board approved the hiring of Landry Kay as assistant soccer/football coach. Kay, presently under contract in Hattiesburg, coached the Tigers during spring practice. He was paid $50 a day by the district, but docked $75 a day by his current district.

Kay's approval came after an executive session that lasted approximately one hour and 10 minutes. Over the last two meetings, the board has been in executive session a combined three years, but only in open meeting for a combined one hour.

Pass paying annexation tab

BY ED LEFOMA
Pass Christian is still paying the tab for its attempt to annex the Isles and Henderson Point more than a year after a court ruling denying the request.

At last week's recess meeting, Mayor Billy McDonald announced the key consultant has agreed to a plan that allows the city to pay the balance it owes in installments.

Aldermen approved a payment of $33,257.50 to Joseph A. Lusteck and Associates of Jackson within 30 days. The balance of $31,500, plus $2,000 in interest will be paid the firm by next Feb. 15 when property tax collections should be sufficient to cover the amount outstanding, said McDonald.

The Jackson firm, which wrote the feasibility study to justify the annexation attempt, had submitted a total bill of $124,642, and the city had already paid the firm $55,370. Ward 1 Alderman Jeff Emerson had argued against paying Lusteck the balance, saying Lusteck "lost every point that was contested in the case."

Originally, Lusteck had agreed to a four-year payout plan proposed by McDonald, but aldermen would not go along with the deal.

The failed annexation attempt has cost the city about $235,000.

In other business, aldermen concurred in a planning commission recommendation to rescind the waiver that allowed subdivisions to be developed without curbs and gutters.

The city will no longer allow developments with open drainage ditches.

McDonald said, "They're eating out lunch." He said the practice allowed open ditches, but later on, the city would put in catch basins, culverts and drainage if property owners provided the pipe.

"We're playing catchup now," said McDonald. "The work crews can't keep up with the demand."

The city also let a contract for $106,324 to Landmark Construction of Gulfport for paving the southeast parking lot and will allow visitors to the Yacht Club access without having to go through the commercial area of the harbor.

McDonald said a new road will run along the eastern portion of the parking lot and will allow visitors to the Yacht Club access without having to go through the commercial area of the harbor.

Tidelands funds will be used for the project.

Construction is expected to begin sometime in June with completion scheduled in 60 days.

McPhail remains critical

Evelyn McPhail of Diamond-head remains in the intensive care unit at Methodist Hospital of Hattiesburg in critical but stable condition, a hospital report said Wednesday.

McPhail was involved in a one-car accident on Monday, May 19, near Laurel.

In the report her family said, "Mrs. McPhail remains in intensive care in critical condition. Doctors say she remains very stable, but there has been no significant change over the last 48 hours."

"She remains unconscious, and it will still probably be some time before they're able to fully determine the effects of her head injuries. They have performed a tracheotomy and have inserted a stomach feeding tube to replace the endotracheal breathing and feeding tubes that had been in her throat. Those are typical procedures in such cases and will hopefully make her more comfortable over the long term."

"People have been remarkably attentive, supportive and caring during this difficult time, and we greatly appreciate their concern. We respectfully ask that everyone please continue to keep Evelyn in their prayers."

Elks steak night set for Friday

Menus alternate between steak and fish fry every Friday night. May 30 will be a steak night.

Menu consists of rib-eye with baked potato, salad, French bread and dessert. Cost is $7. Drinks are available in the VFW Lounge.

The Bay-Waveland Elks promote Americanism and youth activities in our local area.

Cox elected to state post

Bay St. Louis Police Sgt. Paul Cox has been elected South Region vice president of Sobriety-Trained Officers Representing Mississippi (STORM), a statewide organization of more than 160 law enforcement officers dedicated to combating the state's more serious roadway safety problem, driving under the influence (DUI) of alcohol and other drugs.

"This organization has received national attention for its success in bringing together law enforcement officers in a united effort to battle a serious problem," said Mike Vick, law enforcement liaison for the Mississippi Division of Public Safety Planning, sponsor of STORM.

"The cooperation and coordination by STORM members across Mississippi are clear signals that there is no 'safe haven' for impaired driving in our state," noted Ron Sennett, Public Safety Planning's interim executive director.

"Year after year, more than 300 Mississippians are killed in motor vehicle crashes involving alcohol and other drugs. A major goal of STORM is to sharply reduce this needless loss of lives."

Clarification

A two-mill levy that helped retire a Hancock County Port & Harbor bond is a state levy and not specifically designated for the P&H. Several years ago, the supervisors elected to use the millage to pay off the P&H bond. The county is now using the money to pay for reappraisal.

LETTERS WELCOME

A $200 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction for the person or persons who removed several street signs in the Clermont Harbor/Lakeshore area.

Hancock County Chief Deputy Nathan Hoda said the signs were removed several weeks ago and could cause some serious consequences.

Hoda recalled recent convictions in Florida where stop signs were removed and some youngsters were killed in an auto accident.

Street signs are very important and necessary for emergency vehicles such as police, ambulances and fire trucks.

A missing street sign could cause someone to lose a life.

Among the street signs removed are North Railroad, Colly Road and Evelyn Place, Hoda said.

Anyone with information on the signs are asked to contact Hoda at 467-5101. The reward is being offered by an unidentified person.

On Wednesday I was talking to Mrs. Sauzer, president of the Hancock County Food Pantry, who mentioned the organization served some 380 people during the month of April.

That is a large number of deserving people in need, and I am glad the community has the Food Pantry.

Recently the city and rural mail carriers collected food for the Food Pantry and received record numbers of items. Casino Magic also had a drive which really helped the Food Pantry.

As most of you know, the Hancock County Food Pantry is an all-volunteer organization and helps thousands of deserving people each year.

The Food Pantry is located in the Hancock County Court Annex next to the Civil Defense Office, Ulman Avenue.

Its regular hours are from 9 to noon Mondays through Fridays.

Mrs. Sauzer also proudly displayed the new cooler which is now up and running. It was through the donations of many that the necessary materials needed for the cooler were purchased. Mrs. Sauzer's husband built the cooler.

It is great to live in a community where there is such an organization as the Hancock County Food Pantry. It is greater to have so many volunteers and, yes, the many donors of money, food, etc., which make the Food Pantry possible.

The Diamondhead Woman's Club will be selling gladiolus today from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in front of the Diamondhead Fire Department.

The glads are donated by Dorothy Hoskins, and all proceeds will be donated to Alzheimer and Hospice organizations said Lee Fredian, club spokesperson.

Donations are $5 bunch. I hope to see you in Diamondhead today.

IN CONGRESS

By Representative Gene Taylor

Congress passes law to speed adoptions of abused children

I've made no secret of the fact that I've been angered by the slow pace of the 105th Congress. While we've been in session several months, Congress has failed to pass a budget, failed to pass anti-drug legislation, and hasn't addressed meaningful campaign finance reform and other issues that are important to the citizens of this country.

However, I am pleased that Congress addressed a problem that has been ignored by the federal government for almost 20 years. By an overwhelming vote, the House passed a bill which will speed up the adoption of abused and neglected children.

In doing so, Congress reaffirmed that nothing is more important than the well-being and future of our children and our nation cannot turn its back on children who are victims of abuse and neglect.

The key to the bill is that it gives primary consideration to a child's safety in decisions about whether or not children should be returned from foster care to their parents.

We would like to think that the best thing for children is that they be with their biological families whenever possible. But when a child is in a home where he or she is physically abused, neglected or is with parents who use drugs, it is time for society to step in.

Supporters of this legislation include Dr. Sidney and Mary Doug Chevis of Bay St. Louis. For 21 years, the Chevises have kept foster children in their home who were waiting to be adopted.

They agree that this legislation is important to our nation's children because it speeds up the waiting process for these youngsters who have already endured very difficult situations.

"We're just so excited about this," said Mary Doug. "We hope it moves forward and becomes law soon."

On the very day after Congress passed the measure to protect the safety of abused children, The Washington Post had a front page story detailing how an 11-year-old boy was beaten to death by his father. His father had 10 convictions for robbery and other criminal charges.

Earlier the boy had to be taken from the residence of his mother who had been charged with neglect of the child. A neglectful mother and a violent, abusive father, and now a dead 11-year-old boy.

For many years it was felt that foster care was the answer for abused and neglected children. Most experts agree that the nation's troubled foster care system is now not able to meet its intended role as a temporary place for children who were removed from their natural parents because of abuse or neglect.

Ideally, the parents of abused children could receive help and the children would eventually return to the homes of their biological families. It just doesn't work in enough cases and the nation's foster-care system has been overwhelmed.

Too often, children have not been able to leave foster care and the system now includes 500,000 abused and neglected children. This number has increased by 89 percent since 1982.

While social workers will continue to handle day-to-day decisions affecting children in foster care, the bill we passed in the House rewrites the federal law that mandates what rules states must follow in deciding when children should be made available for adoption and under what circumstances they can be adopted.

Under current law, states had to make a "reasonable effort" to unite children in foster care back with their families before the children could be put up for adoption.

The bill we passed will remove that requirement, especially in the most severe cases of abuse, torture or abandonment. These foster-care children will now be eligible for adoption sooner and hopefully will be placed in a loving, stable and safe home with their newly adopted parents.

The adoption bill now moves to the Senate where it is expected to win quick approval and be signed into law by the President. The measure won't solve all the problems of this nation's abused and neglected children, but it's a start and is something that Congress should have addressed much sooner.

Radio, TV, VCR, camcorders obsolete

Dear Editor: Growing from your recent article about the FCC, the FCC is taking away all of our pockets in so many ways we never hear about.

However, the ruling of the FCC that all current TV sets, VCRs, camcorders and such will soon be obsolete because a new form of broadcasting, Digital picture and sound, must be put in service by all TV stations right after the new millennium begins.

Worse, have you heard the projected costs of the new TVs — $2,000 to $5,000? Now they say we may be able to buy a TV converter starting at about $100, but they don't say how the reception will be.

This also means that every TV broadcaster and every cable company must also install new equipment which will no doubt run costs for their services to a higher level which always means the consumer pays more.

The reason as spelled out by the FCC: much improved picture and theater-like sound.

Who's complaining about present levels of quality? So, all those who bought current systems of Sharp, Sanyo, etc., must they be replaced also?

The only ones who will really gain are the manufacturers of electronic sets, and we the consumers, will pay and pay. And for my money, the quality of broadcast programs doesn't justify additional outlay.

We can resist the mandate of the FCC by writing them, the networks, the cable supplier and electronic manufacturers. It would help if the public right now stopped buying any new TVs, VCRs, camcorders, Surround Sound systems, etc.

You might also write your senators and congressmen, but they will never ever read your letter, and one of the staff will send you a prepared form letter containing a lot of gobble-de-gook as usual.

Don't you think this is a program worth killing before it gets started?

Best regards,
Royce P. Kaupp

Legislative bill improves lives for mentally retarded, ill

Dear Editor:

During the 1997 regular session of the Mississippi Legislature, members of the Mississippi House and Senate took definitive action to improve the lives of citizens who are mentally retarded or mentally ill through passage of Senate Bill 2100, the Mental Health Reform Act.

This legislation provides for significant service changes throughout our state. Senate Bill 2100 will provide statewide uniform standards and timely services at community mental health centers, will improve crisis intervention, provide group homes for people who are mentally ill, assure family involvement in treatment, enhance county supervision of community programs, assure better use of state resources at local levels and will create a career ladder for workers in Mississippi's regional mental retardation centers.

Thirty-seven senators and 86 representatives voted for SB 2100. Senator Scottie Cuevas and Representative J. P. Compretta worked for its successful passage. These legislators deserve public recognition for their advocacy and support.

Thanks to their leadership, Mississippians will have improved access to needed services. Front line staff who provide essential daily life care will be afforded improved career opportunities in recognition of their diligent service.

Sincerely,
Joyce Shank, President
SMRC Parents Association

Cancer Survivors Day set June 7 by SMH

Dear Editor:

One of every three people in our community will be diagnosed with cancer. On June 7, Cancer Survivors Day will honor survivors in St. Tammany Parish and Mississippi's Hancock and Harrison counties who are living with and beyond cancer.

It will also recognize those professionals who are helping to fight the battle against cancer. National Cancer Survivors Day is an annual celebration of life.

Participants from coast to coast will unite to honor those who are surviving a cancer diagnosis.

In doing so, we will communicate to all Americans the message that life after a cancer diagnosis is a reality.

In my work, I see examples daily of courage, grace and strength in cancer survivors. Their inspiration should encourage us all to continue our research working toward finding new cancer therapies and a cure.

For the first time in history, overall death rates from cancer have begun a steady decline in the United States. Thanks to recent advances in early detection, treatment and research, a diagnosis of cancer is no longer an automatic death sentence.

I encourage all area residents to become partners in their own health care by learning methods to prevent cancer, and by having screenings and performing self-exams regularly to detect cancer at an early, more treatable stage.

Warmest regards,
Karen Smith, RN, OCN, CTR
Slidell Memorial Hospital
Cancer Program Coordinator

SENIOR CENTER

You're invited to visit the beautiful new Senior Citizens Center in Bay St. Louis Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Our "seniors shine with new mural." The mosaic mural recently completed by center members under the direction of artist Elizabeth Veglia, was funded by a community grant from the Mississippi Arts Commission.

The group of seniors, which included three men, worked on their tile designs for two hours or more each weekday for two weeks, and they loved it. Arleen Johnson, program director, had her friend, Vernon Raymond, frame it at no cost.

You're welcome to visit the much needed new facility and see what our seniors are up to.

NRL presents awards

Naval Research Laboratory (NRL) Stennis Space Center researchers received awards for publications/patents produced in 1996.

NRL's Commanding Officer Capt. Bruce W. Buckley presented Research Publications awards to Dr. Ronald A. Wagstaff, a general engineer in the Ocean Acoustics Branch; Dr. Michael R. Carnes, Robert C. Rhodes and Daniel N. Fox, oceanographers in the Ocean Dynamics and Prediction Branch; Dr. Zachariah R. Hallock and William J. Teague, oceanographers in the Ocean Sciences Branch; Dr. Warren T. Wood and Dr. Dennis A. Lindwall, geophysicists in the Seafloor Sciences Branch.

Publications awards recognize the authors of the best NRLJL publications each year, honoring not only the individuals for superior scientific accomplishments, but also seeking to promote continued excellence in research and its documentation. More than 200 papers were nominated, but only 38 received awards.

Capt. Buckley also presented NRL Edison Patent awards to Douglas N. Lambert, David C. Young, and former NRL employee Frank S. Carnaggio.

Patent awards recognize significant NRL contributions to science and engineering, as demonstrated by the patent process, that are perceived to have the greatest potential benefit to the country. Sixty-two patents were submitted; four were awarded.

NRL's mission is to conduct a broadly based multidisciplinary program of scientific research and advanced technological development directed toward maritime applications of new and improved materials, techniques, equipment, systems, and ocean, atmospheric, and space sciences and related technologies.

Casino Magic dominates awards

Casino Magic was recently recognized as the business leader on the Mississippi Gulf Coast by being awarded Harrison County's Economic Excellence Award, the City of Biloxi's Business of the Year Award and the Outstanding Business Leader Award for 1997.

Additionally, Casino Magic employee, Sara Taranto Miller, was named the 1997 Volunteer of the Year by the City of Biloxi.

Casino Magic also received recognition as the largest donor in the history of United Way of South Mississippi, pledging $248,000 to the 1996 campaign.

"The casino industry has been a tremendous boost to Biloxi's growing economy; however, it's companies like Casino Magic that achieved the next level, through volunteerism and partnerships throughout our city. In the past year, Casino Magic has clearly defined the role of and set the standards for the term 'corporate citizen,'" said Biloxi Mayor A. J. Holloway.

"We're dedicated to improving the quality of life in the community in which we work and live," said Bruce Nourse, Magic's director of community relations and senior vice president of governmental affairs.

Casino Magic Biloxi gave over 6,000 volunteer hours to various community organizations. Employees donated food, paper products and cooks and servers for an in-kind value of $45,000. In addition, monetary donations of over $150,000 were made.

Employees participated in the Christmas in April home refurbishing project, the Biloxi Chamber Seafood Festival, the Boys and Girls Club Annual Oyster Festival, the 1996 Heart Walk, the George Ohr Mad Pottery Ball and Festival and hosted the Blessing of the Fleet Coronation dinner. Employees also donated their time to the Gulf Coast Research Lab, J. L. Scott Marine Education Center, Loaves and Fishes, Special Olympics, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital and Camp Wilkes. In addition, Casino Magic had more volunteers than any other corporation participating in the AIDS Task Force Walk for Life.

Perhaps that dedication is one reason why the Harrison County Development Commission and the Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce chose to award the Harrison County Economic Excellence Award to Casino Magic. The award recognizes a business in Harrison County that has contributed to the economy and quality of life on the Mississippi Gulf Coast during the past calendar year.

Magic won amongst a field of numerous candidates. Criteria for the award include investment in the community, enhancement of the quality of life, and recognition.

The Outstanding Business Leaders Award was given to Casino Magic for its efforts in preserving the rich cultural history of the City of Biloxi.

The City of Biloxi's Business of the Year Award was given to Casino Magic in recognition of outstanding community volunteer support.

Sara Taranto Miller, a Casino Magic Biloxi employee, received the prestigious City of Biloxi's Volunteer of the Year Award for 1997. Miller says that working for Casino Magic allows her to give something back to her own community that she might not otherwise be able to do in another job.

Casino Magic Biloxi, located on the beach in Biloxi, will celebrate its fourth anniversary this year. The casino employs approximately 1,000 people with an annual payroll of over $23 million. Currently in progress is the construction of a 378-room deluxe hotel. Anticipated completion of the project is early 1998.

Casino Magic Biloxi is a subsidiary of Casino Magic Corporation, a publicly traded company headquartered in Bay St. Louis, which operates casinos in Mississippi and Louisiana.

T. Graham Brown to perform at Magic

Throughout his musical journey, T. Graham Brown has captivated audiences worldwide with his raspy-voiced "blue-eyed soul" version of country music. T. Graham Brown will perform at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis Tuesday, June 24 and Saturday, June 28. Show times are 8 and 10:30 p.m.

Brown, whose career spans radio, television and motion pictures, exploded onto the music scene with the release of his debut Capital Records album "I Tell It Like It Used To Be," which yielded the chart-topping hits, "I Wish That I Could Hurt That Way Again," his signature "Hell And High Water," "Don't Go To Strangers," and the title track. His follow-up, "Brilliant Conversationalist," produced the title cut hit as well as "She Couldn't Love Me Anymore" and "The Last Resort." The self-penned "R.F.D. 30529," although not a single release, has become a much requested live show favorite. The No. 1 smash "Darlene" is from his "Come As You Were" release.

In 1993, Brown received a CMA Award in the Vocal Event of the Year category for his part in the George Jones single, "I Don't Need Your Rockin' Chair."

Brown has a passion that sets him apart from the County pack, and his live concert performance garners rave reviews and thrills audiences of all ages.

National Guard members may elect G. I. Bill

The VA has a special message for current and former members of the National Guard who have served on full-time duty and who are not currently eligible for the Montgomery G. I. Bill — Active Duty. You may be eligible to elect G. I. Bill benefits as a result of recent legislation.

Deadline for making an election is July 8, 1997. The affected National Guard members must pay $1,200 to be eligible, but this amount can be collected after July 8.

By making an election, you would be entitled to $427.87 a month for 36 months of full-time training. The number of months of entitlement could be less than 36 if you previously used VA education benefits under a different law.

VA says if you can answer yes to the following questions you may be eligible to make the election.

Did you first enter the National Guard between July 1, 1985 and Nov. 28, 1989, and was this your first period of active duty in the military?

Was this National Guard service performed under title 32, U.S. Code?

Additional questions for persons discharged from the period of service which began between July 1, 1985 and Nov. 28, 1989:

Did you receive an honorable discharge?

Did you have a high school diploma, equivalency certificate, or complete at least 12 hours of college credit at the time of your discharge? If you were an active duty on Aug. 2, 1990, did you meet this requirement by Oct. 29, 1994?

Did you serve three years or more? If not, is one of the following statements true:

1. Your commitment was for three years or more, you served at least 30 months, and you were separated for convenience of the government;

2. Your commitment was for less than three years, you served at least 20 months, and you were separated for convenience of the government;

3. You were separated for hardship, service-connected disability, reduction in force, preexisting medical condition, or a medical condition that is not a disability nor due to your misconduct but that interfered with your performance of duty.

VA strongly encourages Guard members who believe they may be eligible to submit an election before the July 8, 1997 deadline.

A Guard member on active duty should submit an election through Guard channels. Contact your Education Officer for election procedures.

A Guard member or former Guard member who is not currently on active duty should deal with VA directly. VA says the best thing to do is to file an application for benefits (VA Form 22-1990) and include a statement that "I wish to elect the Montgomery G. I. Bill — Active Duty based on National Guard service under Public Law 104-275."

VA will make an eligibility determination and advise if you should send in the $1,200. You can get the application form and the address of the nearest VA Regional Processing Office by calling VA's toll-free number at 1-800-827-1000. The important thing is to make an election before July 8, 1997.

In some cases VA may need copies of the Guard member's orders to active duty to establish that the service was under title 32. VA says it would be helpful if you furnish a copy of these orders along with your election.

VA says there is a downside to the election if you have already used the same period of service to establish eligibility under the Montgomery G. I. Bill — Selected Reserve. In this situation, you would have to repay the earlier benefits before receiving benefits under the Montgomery G. I. Bill — Active Duty.

For example, if you had already received $4,000 under the Montgomery G. I. — Selected Reserve, it might not be a good idea to make the election since you would have to attend school nearly 10 months at full time just to work off the $4,000 debt.

Another downside is that the $1,200 payment will not be refunded under any circumstances unless the Guard member was not eligible to make the election in the first place. This means that a Guard member who does not use the G. I. Bill loses his or her $1,200.

VA says that all things considered this G. I. Bill election window is a great opportunity for those National Guard members who qualify. But don't forget the July 8, 1997 deadline. This date is set by legislation and it would literally take an act of Congress to change it.

Submitted by Hancock County Veteran-Service Officer Don Mauffray, 467-2100.

Sheehy named Alumni Association president

Bro. Donnan Berry, SC, president of St. Stanislaus, inducted Ray Sheehy, class of 1948, as the incoming Alumni Association president on Feb. 22 during the annual alumni reunion.

Sheehy assumed the presidency after Erle Christenberry who has served two terms as Alumni Association president from 1960 to 1963 and from 1990 to 1997. He has served as president longer than any other alumnus except J. T. LaNasa of the class of 1947.

Christenberry served as a member of the Steering Committee for St. Stanislaus' Endowment for Excellence capital campaign. Also he yearly inducted the SSC seniors as alumni during a special dinner at the end of the school year, as well as supporting alumni activities.

Sheehy addressed the more than 200 alumni attending the induction pledging to form four alumni chapters, in Atlanta, Texas, Monterrey, Mexico, and Costa Rica, and to further the development of the SSC Archives collection for which he is the volunteer archivist.

Sheehy was born and raised in Limon, Costa Rica. He came to Stanislaus in 1944 graduating in 1948. Shortly after graduation he entered the US Air Force where he spent 30 years in active service specializing in the field of electronics.

During his service he earned the Bronze Star with a "V" device earned in Vietnam, several Outstanding Unit Awards, a Senior Missiles Badge while stationed at Vandenberg Air Force Base where he was Chief of Quality Control.

Incoming president

St. Stanislaus Alumni Association President Earle Christenberry, left, class of 1945, turned over leadership of the association to Ray Sheehy, class of 1948, during the annual alumni reunion Feb. 22.

Sheehy earned a bachelor's degree in American history from Louisiana State University and a master's of science as an electronic engineer from California Polytechnic Institute. He also earned graduate credit in management and administration from Oklahoma University.

After retirement Sheehy worked as a civilian with ITT-Courier. He left ITT to return to government service for 12 years as the National Security Emergency Planner and the Communication Officer for the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) for the Pacific Region and the Pacific Rim nation under US administration.

Presently living on the Gulf Coast, Sheehy is an active volunteer serving as a communications officer for the Hancock County Civil Defense and the Hancock County Sheriff, and volunteering as St. Stanislaus' archivist.

He is a life member of the Air Force Association and of the Disabled American Veterans. He is a past commodore of the Makani Kai Yacht Club, Kaneohe, Hawaii, and is a registered IORC race official. He is also a member of the American Legion Post 139, Bay St. Louis, and secretary of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees, Buccaneer Chapter, Bay-Waveland.

Days of Remembrance

The Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO) hosted an annual Days of Remembrance of the Victims of the Holocaust Observance May 7.

The program was centered around two guest speakers, Eva and Henry Galler, who moved the audience with true stories and experiences during the Holocaust.

Capt. Dieter K. Rudolph, Commanding Officer of NAVOCEANO introduced Mrs. Galler, who shared a part of history and her life as a Jewish survivor of the Holocaust.

Mrs. Galler was born Eva Vogel in Oleszyce, Poland in 1924. By 1942, she was living in the Ghetto at Lubaczow, before being loaded onto the death-camp train.

The Vogel family decided that Eva (15), her younger brother and sister were the only children, old enough and small enough to escape by squeezing through the small train window.

"But I want to live" were the last words Eva ever heard from her three-year-old brother, and her parents, as the train thundered to a death camp destination.

Eva landed in a snow-filled ditch amidst German gunfire. "But they did not kill me. I went to find my brother and sister, but they were dead," Eva told the audience.

The Gallers were separated during WWII when Eva was sent to the Ghetto at Lubaczow, and Henry fought in the Polish Army.

The couple reunited and were married 50 years ago in Sweden and are the only survivors from their families. Eva and Henry's brothers and sisters (totaling 13), were killed in concentration camps along with their parents.

Eva escaped the Germans, but was still forced to work on a farm for a German family while she posed as a young, Catholic Polish girl.

Although Eva was unable to attend school as a Jew in Poland, at the age of 62 she graduated from the University of New Orleans with a degree in history.

Henry Galler, born in 1921, left Poland after the Hitler-

Stalin pact and USSR-German "Treaty of Frontier Regulation and Friendship" of 1939, which partitioned Poland.

Henry was arrested by the Russians and sent to Siberia. After the 1941 German invasion of Russia, Henry volunteered for the Russian Army. After the war, he studied fine tailoring for four years.

In 1954, the Gallers moved to the United States and settled in New York. Eva and Henry then relocated to New Orleans in 1962 where they raised three daughters; a physician, an MBA and a law professor.

Life for the Gallers was not easy during WWII, but their faith, determination and desire to live gave them the opportunity to have a family of their own, a future and the strength to tell their story.

would relieve congestion by school buses taking students to Bay High School.

He said the improvements might also convince state Highway Department officials to install a traffic signal at the busy intersection.

District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour made the motion to allow the city to take the county land for the project, and it was seconded by District 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward.

Seymour agreed that the road improvements would lure more doctors and other professional offices to locate near the hospital.

But, before the vote, Board President Philip Moran said, "I'm usually for road improvements...but I'm real concerned about the amount of traffic that will be generated if it turns out to be a shortcut to the casino." District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman sided with Moran and Ladner to reject the request.

Vannoy seemed surprised by the turn of events, and said he planned to meet with Mayor Eddie Favre soon "to explore alternatives."

There was some good road news coming out of the meeting.

Supervisors accepted the low bid of TCB Construction of Poplarville for widening, paving and sub-surface drainage of Texas Flat Road, the main artery leading off Hwy. 603 into McLeod Water Park.

TCB was low of four bidders at a cost of $653,578.69, and the project will be financed entirely by state-aid funds. It has been on the drawing board for more than eight years, and was complicated because the county needed to settle with several landowners for land it needed to widen the roadway.

In other business, Coward asked supervisors to draft a resolution formally requesting that the Hancock County School District consider selling the county more 16 Section land at Standard for use as a rubbish site.

The motion passed unanimously after county attorney Gerry Gex reported beforehand that he had a conversation with School Supt. Terry Randolph who indicated, "The school board might be receptive to selling the county additional land at Standard" for rubbish.

The present 41-acre rubbish site is nearing capacity, and the state Department of Environmental Quality has informed supervisors that it faces closure or downgrading by June 30th unless the county can purchase adjoining land to extend its life.

Gex also told supervisors that the Port and Harbor Commission may be entitled to about $139,000 which has been escrowed from a two-mill property tax levy originally imposed to service bonds for improvements to Port Bienville. However, county comptroller Patty Greer said the funds are invested and earning interest until July 1.

Gex said there was another $144,000 drawing interest in another account, but he said those funds which were also used for port improvements were originally Seawall funds and not from any tax levy.

He asked for time to research the matter, but said it's his initial opinion the port is not entitled to those escrowed funds. Coward also got supervisors to set a June 10 public hearing to get input from citizens on a proposed pedestrian pathway and bikeway system that would jointly be developed by the county and the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

The project was first proposed and funded in 1995. Its total cost is over $1.2 million, with most of the funds coming from the Statewide Transportation Improvement Program.

The hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the boardroom at the County Courthouse.

Supervisors and the Hancock County Solid Wastewater District also conducted a public hearing to hear objections or favorable comments on plans to provide sewerage to Clermont Harbor and Lakeshore Drive.

Gex said the family of Michael Cure had raised some objections, but he asked the State Rep. J.P. Compretta, the attorney for the district, to try to work out a settlement before supervisors vote on the annexation request at their June 2 meeting.

South beach property owner Jim Maness told supervisors he favored the project, and it would open up the area to future growth.

Coach

Hancock in the district tournament.

"We had the big heads on," admitted Ladner, cousin of St. Stanislaus coach Jay Ladner.

Ladner went on to star at Phillips College in Gulfport, where he was named to the National Little College Athletic Association All-District team. The Nease Crossing native helped lead Phillips to a third place finish in the national tournament.

He was also coached by his father for two years at Phillips. Mike Ladner then transferred to Southeastern Louisiana University.

Ladner, who at one time coached both the boys and girls teams at Bay High in addition to teaching five social studies classes, inherits a once-proud program that has fallen on hard times. The Hawks won only one game last season, after which long-time coach Dennis Peterson resigned.

"I want people to come out and be excited," Ladner said. "But people will have to be patient. I'm in this for the long haul. I want to bring the program back as soon as possible."

"I want to help the kids understand the tradition of Hancock basketball. I want to continue what my dad had a hand in starting."

He added the Hancock job was the only high school position "in the country I would accept."

"I love Hancock County and I love Hancock High School basketball," Ladner added. "This is a good time for me. Some coaches come back to their high schools too soon."

"After 16 years of being gone is good timing."

At Memphis, Ladner coached with former HNCCE standout Joye Lee-McNelis. McNelis' No. 14 jersey was retired on April 19, 1993, in a ceremony that also retired the jersey of former Hawk quarterback Brett Favre.

"I missed the people of Hancock County," Ladner said. "I missed the people I went to school with, my family, friends and the children of the people I know growing up."

Ladner said he plans to move to Hancock County in early June. He and Jay Ladner have conducted a summer basketball camp in August, and Michael Ladner said that will continue.

The suit claims he was fired thereafter "in retaliation" of that complaint.

Martinez is asking for at least $500,000 each from Peterson, the county and the sheriff's department in compensatory damages and at least $800,000 each in punitive damages.

Peterson was served notice on April 28 and Board of Supervisors President Philip Moran on April 30. Peterson's attorney filed for an extension until June 18 on May 15.

"It is the standard policy of the department not to comment on civil litigation pending against the sheriff's department in court," Peterson said.

The county has hired the New Orleans firm of McGlinchey Stafford to serve as defense counsel.

Favre

Judge Robert H. Walker signed an order which will send Favre to prison, according to Ken Jones, Public Relations Director of MDOC.

The order referenced the sentence handed down by Walker on March 27 which gave Favre 15 years in prison, Jones said. Walker had suspended 14 of the 15 years and placed Favre under house arrest for one year.

According to Jones, Favre will be transferred to the Central Mississippi Correctional Facility near Pearl, where he will be classified and assigned to a correctional facility.

"It is the initial setting up of a file on the inmate which will follow him within the prison system," Jones explained. "From there the inmate is assigned to a facility."

The classification process examines such things as physical ability of an inmate, substance abuse problems, and medical limitations, Jones said. Additionally, inmates are screened for tuberculosis, AIDS, and sexually transmitted diseases.

Jones said where Favre serves his sentence will depend upon how he is classified.

Due to the nature of the crime, in that a person was killed, Favre is not eligible for a satellite facility such as a work center, Jones said. He also will be unable to serve his time at the Hancock County jail because it is not an authorized facility, according to Jones.

It is possible, however, for Favre to end up in a minimum security facility.

Jones said 888 inmates have successfully completed the Intensive Supervision Program since it began in September 1994. With 490 failures, the program has a success rate of 64 percent. There are currently 605 inmates under house arrest.

Upon beginning the program, an inmate signs an agreement, signifying an awareness of, and agreeing to, the conditions of the house arrest, Jones explained.

If an inmate violates the conditions of the program the house arrest is conferred to "a more formal style living arrangement, which is incarceration," Jones said.

Favre's arrest has attracted national media attention.

pounds, was cleaning jail cells when he walked off on Saturday. Peterson said Nelson met the criteria to be a trusty, which includes being held for a nonviolent offense.

Despite Nelson's escape, Peterson said he has no plans to modify the trusty policy.

"When you have a trusty policy, one will walk off," he said. "But the benefits far outweigh losing one every now and then."

Nelson is the second escape this year from the facility. 1st Lt. Wheat escaped in February but was later captured in Illinois.

Wheat's escape forced officials to weld shut the cell windows.

"We're always thinking of other things we can do to increase security," Peterson said. "When you're talking about trustys, it's hard to prevent."

List released to locate 29,000 Mississippians

State Treasurer Marshall Bennett announced that he is beginning a major effort to locate over 29,000 Mississippians who have more than $15 million coming to them from Unclaimed Property Accounts reported to the Mississippi Treasury Department from various banks, savings and loan associations, insurance companies, credit unions and other businesses.

"We are working hard to reunite people with their lost or forgotten money. Some individuals are due over $5,000 and all others over $100 each. A 36-page tabloid has been published as part of the effort to locate missing owners or heirs. The tabloid is inserted in today's Echo and Mississippi daily and weekly newspapers this week, and will also be available at more than 250 public libraries.

"The main purpose of the Unclaimed Property Act is to locate the real owners of these abandoned funds. Since the Unclaimed Property Act was enacted, the Treasury Department has been successful in returning millions to the rightful owners. "In the past, unclaimed and dormant accounts in financial and other institutions were either charged off to the institution with the owner or heirs losing their rights to the property, or the account was decreased over the years through various charges. Dormant accounts and unclaimed funds accrued to the benefit of the holding institution."

With the passage of the Unclaimed Property Act, these institutions now must report and turn over to the State Treasury any unclaimed accounts covered by law.

"There is no time limit on filing a claim. The State never assumes ownership of any of these funds but rather holds them in custody available for claim by the rightful owner."

Should your name or the name of a relative appear on the list, contact the State Treasurer's Office, Unclaimed Property Division, P. O. Box 138, Jackson, MS 39205. The list may also be available at the County Chancery Clerks' Offices.

Unemployment rate lowest in 23 years

Mississippi's unemployment rate is the lowest April figure in 23 years. According to the Mississippi Employment Security Commission (MESC), the April rate is 4.7 percent — the lowest rate for that month since the 4 percent reported in 1974 and the lowest rate for any month in almost 18 years. MESC's labor market information department reports the unemployment rate monthly.

"Our April rate is usually low because of seasonal influences," said Tom Lord, MESC executive director. "However, we're encouraged because this rate is much lower than normal." The unemployment rate for last April was 6 percent.

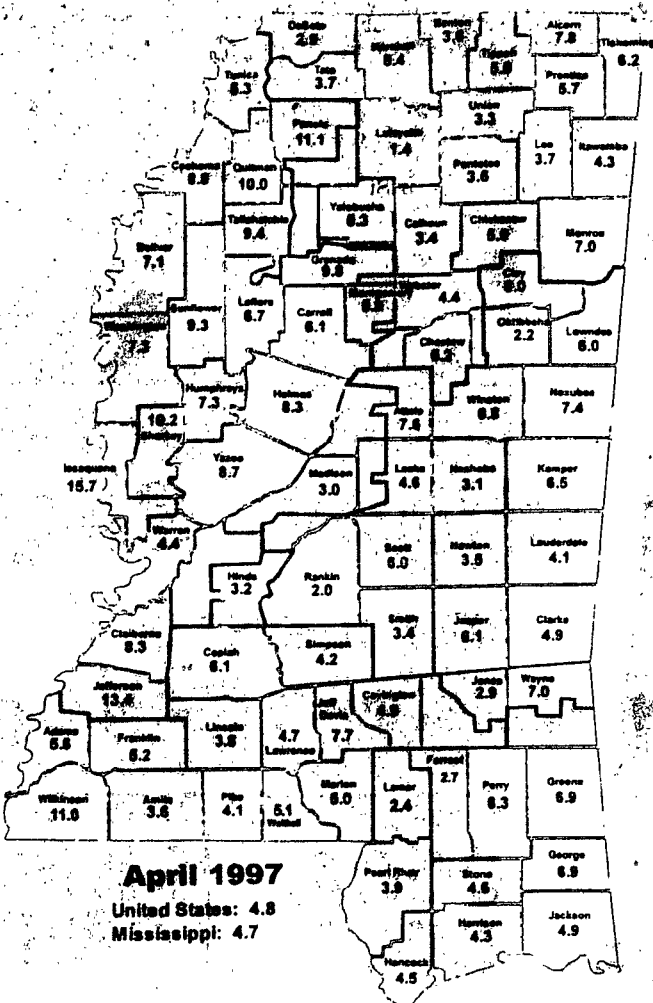

The April rate is well below the 5.8 percent recorded last month. MESC officials attribute the low rate to significant gains in construction, retail trade, service employment and few layoffs among manufacturing firms. Additionally, agricultural activity picked up considerably following heavy rains and river flooding in March and early April.

The lowest unemployment rates are in Lafayette and Rankin counties at 1.4 and 2 percent. Jefferson and Issaquena counties record the highest rates at 13.4 and 15.7 percent.

Lord states Mississippi is on track to record its lowest annual unemployment rate in recent years. However, he expects unemployment to rise at the end of the school year and in the summer months as students increase competition for available jobs.

MESC labor market analysts anticipate unemployment rates to again drop in the fall and holiday seasons.

Home sales show continued growth

Early indications are that Mississippians who are looking to sell a home can look forward to a good market this summer. Despite an increase in the interest rate, Mississippi's home sales were up in April, both over March's numbers and over last year's numbers in many markets.

April's Mississippi Home Sales Report, released by the Mississippi Association of Realtors, shows continuing growth over previous months' sales. According to MAR President John M. Dean Jr. of Leland, this is a promising trend.

"The Fed's decision to bump up interest rates really did have an impact on the state's markets this month," said Dean. "In markets where prior year numbers are available — like Jackson and my home market, Greenville — we're seeing higher sales numbers than in the same month last year. This looks like a strong summer is coming for most areas of the state."

In April, Mississippi's Realtors closed 1,095 homes, up from March 974 units sold. The state's two largest markets, the Jackson area and the Gulf Coast, closed 369 and 298 sales, respectively. In smaller areas, Greenville reported 27 sales, and Oxford reported 23.

The Association's Home Sales Report also indicates that the highest average home sales price in April was in Tupelo at $106,535, followed by the North DeSoto area at $100,901 and the Hattiesburg area at $97,539.

The lowest average home sales price for April was in Laurel at $50,519. The average price statewide was $85,331, and the year-to-date average price is $82,186.

Average statewide statistics show total homes sold in April 1997 were 1,095, up from 974 in March 1997, and year-to-date, 4,088.

The average selling price in April 1997 was $85,331; March 1997, $82,120; and year-to-date, $82,186.

Total homes sold on the Gulf Coast in April 1997 were 191, March 1997, 170; and year-to-date, 727. Average selling price April 1997 was $88,325, March 1997, $93,373; April 1996, $89,854; and year-to-date $90,549.

The Gulf Coast area includes Gulfport, Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Biloxi and Ocean Springs.

Coast Convention & Visitors Bureau wins leadership award

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Convention & Visitors Bureau was honored as a recipient of the 1997 Excellence in Leadership Award sponsored by The Grogan Casino Report and Casino Universe publications at an International Gaming Business Expo awards ceremony held in Las Vegas, Nev.

The organization was selected in the Association Leader category for welcoming the casino gaming industry into the community and having "demonstrated a positive effort to have all economic activities work harmoniously together."

Stephen Grogan, editor/publisher of The Grogan Casino Report and Casino Universe, said "The Mississippi Gulf Coast Convention & Visitors Bureau was chosen primarily because of the support the Harrison County Tourism Commission has given to the casinos and businesses in the area. It demonstrates the positive balance between the casino industry and the community and the fostering of good will."

Eddie McGuire, president of the Harrison County Tourism Commission, was on hand to accept the award.

"Receiving the Excellence in Leadership Award says a great deal about how Mississippi Gulf Coast's business community is perceived by the gaming industry," said McGuire.

"The industry recognizes the great cooperative relationship we have here on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and its impact on current and future development."

"The Harrison County Tourism Commission's success would not be possible without the Mississippi Gulf Coast Innkeepers, both casino and non-casino properties, whose hotel tax help fund our programs."

More than 700 gaming professionals were in attendance to see awards presented in 11 categories.

Robertson certified

Bobbie C. Robertson of Bay St. Louis has been awarded the Board Certified in Real Estate Litigation Management by the Professional Certification Board, according to Dr. Marvin T. Deane, president.

The certification was conferred after completion of the educational requirements; passing written examinations and meeting establishment criteria for qualification.

"Each board member who has been board certified in real estate litigation management has agreed to subscribe to the highest professional standards of conduct as required by the organization's strict code of ethics," said Dr. Deane.

The Professional Certification Board certifies those members of the real estate profession who have attained a high degree of excellence in the art and science of real estate litigation management. Such qualifications are designed to ensure the public will have qualified professional real estate appraisal services when a designated member is selected.

Bank expands program to benefit children

Deposit Guaranty National Bank and Developing Resources for Education in America, Inc. (DREAM) are expanding their partnership formed two years ago to benefit children.

The expansion will include parents by providing them with educational materials to use with their children. These materials will enhance their children's education and life skills development during the summer.

Through the commitment and financial support of The Deposit Guaranty National Bank Foundation, DREAM has developed the Drugless Douglass Tales Create-A-Books™, which are designed to help parents teach their children life skills. The books have been distributed to over 22,000 kindergarten students in areas where Deposit Guaranty operates.

The Big Books focus on nine life skills including self-esteem, honesty, decision-making, respect for life and safety, responsibility, stewardship, compassion and self-discipline. Teachers focus on a different life skill each month of the school year.

The feedback and results of the program have been extremely positive. Teachers have reported seeing positive changes in children's behavior as a result of teaching the life skills.

"The Create-A-Book project takes us to the next logical step — parent involvement," says DREAM's executive director June Milam. Research shows that children are more successful when parents are involved in their education.

"While the emphasis of the Create-A-Book is on life skills, the book is also curriculum-infused with activities that reinforce language acquisition, reading comprehension and critical thinking skills.

"It is our hope that the Create-A-Book will create bonding between parent and child and allow the parent to maintain the child's educational development during the summer."

Milam praises the Deposit Guaranty National Bank Foundation for believing in the importance of long-term solutions.

"They didn't just throw money at a problem and run. Deposit Guaranty is in for the long haul because they truly believe in our children's future," commented Milam.

Cooper, Ladner finish one-two in race

Approximately 30 Late Model cars were on hand for the SUPR series feature at Sun Coast Speedway. Twenty-two cars qualified for the feature race, while the top five spots were determined by a tire changing contest held on the front straight-away.

Randy Blanchard's crew won first, placing him on the pole for the start of the feature race. As the green flag dropped, Mike Boland shot to the front from his outside second row starting position. It appeared Boland was headed for an easy win, but it was not to be, as mechanical problems forced him to pit for the remainder of the race.

Randy Blanchard moved to the front and held a comfortable lead for the remainder of the race. Two local drivers, Rusty Cooper and Mike Ladner, battled each other for position from the start of the race as they held fifth and sixth place.

Cooper managed to move ahead of Ladner for good as both moved up to the second and third spots. Blanchard showed the way to the checkers and what appeared to be an easy win, but was all for naught. Blanchard failed to clear tech as he proved to be approximately 25 pounds light on his legal minimum weight, which resulted in his disqualification. This resulted in Cooper and Ladner moving up to the one-two spots, giving the local drivers a clean sweep.

Bubba Mullins, Ricky Kirkland and Butch Patton rounded out the top six finishers. Kalif Sellier, who has been an outstanding Four Cylinder driver, moved up to a late model ride and a consolation race win his first time out.

Brent Magee also finished first in a Consy race, while Scott Slay, Blanchard and Donald Waltson all finished first in earlier Heat Race action.

Chet Morrison not only claimed the Pro Stock feature, but timed in with a new track record. Wallace Allen came out of turn two in the lead and held it till Ronnie Roberts managed to move into first. Roberts lost a tire which caused damage to Allen's car, ending the night's racing for both.

Chet Morrison moved into the top spot to claim the win. Mitchell Williams held off Richie Cialona to round out the top three in the feature. Heat wins went to Steve Pate Sr. and Ray Broadus.

Chris Moran and Rodney Barber shared the front row as they came to the green flag for the Street Stock feature. Barber led the early going, but gave way to Moran and suffered a flat tire ending his challenge with Moran.

Ernie Parker and Tony Petro moved in behind Moran but could do nothing to reel him in. Parker, along with Bubba Trotter, won earlier heat races.

Kenny Allison added another Four Cylinder Modified feature win to his ever growing list. Allen David Neale and Bennie Raynor.

ner David Neale and Bennie Raynor.

Billy Joe Schonewitz held off heat winner Bubba Schonewitz in a light field of Late Model Sportsman. Tracy Brown followed the Schonewitz twosome to the checkers as he outdistanced Marty Hardy and Bennie Spicer to claim the third spot.

Jeremy Sexton made a clean sweep in the Rookie Class, as he won both heat and feature races, followed by Matt Fortenberry and Steven Keller.

Boating deaths at record low

Boating fatalities across the United States dropped to an all-time low in 1996, and the reduction in fatalities from 1995 is the greatest percentage one-year drop in 10 years, according to the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators.

There were 714 boating deaths in 1996 in the U.S. compared to 818 in 1995, a 13 percent decline.

The greatest number of boating deaths were 1,754 recorded in 1973.

"The typical boating accident isn't a fiery high-speed collision, but a simple capsizing or fall overboard from a small boat," Maj. Jimmy Laird said. "Usually the weather is good, visibility is clear, and the accident happens in broad daylight."

Laird said increased boating educational and enforcement efforts were partly responsible for the decline in boating fatalities.

Also, Laird said non-fatal boating accidents were down. "There were 4,589 non-fatal boating accidents reported to state boating safety authorities in 1996 compared to 4,954 the year before, according to NASBLA.

Laird said much of the good news about reduced accidents and fatalities was due to increased boating and public education effort encouraging boaters to wear life jackets, as well as legislation and educational efforts to decrease personal watercraft accidents.

Boaters pay for safety efforts through the federal Wallo-Breaux fund, a federal fuel tax paid by boaters that is returned to the states to pay for successful safe boating programs.

Former PRCC student Grisham Scholarship winner

Jamie Saul, a 1996 graduate of Pearl River Community College and a Business Information Systems major at Mississippi State University in Starkville, is the recipient of the John Grisham Scholarship for MSU's Department of Information Systems.

Grisham was on the MSU campus recently to meet with Saul, a Carriere native, and other Grisham Scholarship recipients. Grisham has given Teaching Excellence Awards in the past based upon research proposals that instructors submit, but this is the first year that he has given scholarships to students.

While at PRCC, Saul was selected Phi Theta Kappa's Most Distinguished Student for the Mississippi and Louisiana region. She was also recognized as an All-USA Academic nominee and received the colleges' Computer Sciences Award.

Grisham, an alumnus of the MSU School of Accountancy and College of Business and Industry, and his wife chose to give something back to Mississippi for the rewards they felt the state had given them. The Grishams make donations to charitable organizations in the state, fund research for instructors, and scholarships to students to help defer costs of education.

Orientation session at Ole Miss

Summertime at the University of Mississippi means hosting orientation sessions for students who will be enrolled on the Oxford campus for the first time this fall, and parents are welcome.

The 1997 summer orientation program dubbed "Kaleidoscope" has been completely revamped from previous years in an attempt to better meet the needs of new students.

For students, the two-day programs will feature pre-advising sessions, a "Rebel Round Up" of campus organizations, campus tour, picnic in the Grove, and sessions on Greek life, intercollegiate athletics, web surfing, campus health and safety, housing and food services.

Students also will have an opportunity to register for fall classes and get ID cards, post office boxes, e-mail accounts and parking stickers. Participants can stay in campus dorms to get a taste of college life.

Parents will attend many of the student session, in addition to asking questions of a student panel and attending sessions on financing a college education and making the transition from high school to college with their child.

Orientation dates are June 8-9, 11-12, 15-16, 18-19 and 22-23. Students must register by May 23.

Each session is limited to 285 students, and spaces will be reserved on a first-response basis. An additional orientation Aug. 17-18 will be held prior to the start of the fall semester for those who cannot attend any of the June sessions.

For information, call the Student Life office at (601) 232-5050.

USM's Cuba Studies Program

By Phil Brown
The University of Southern Mississippi's long-awaited Cuba Studies Program is back on track, with a nearly two-week-long program scheduled in historic Havana this summer.

Approximately 15-20 USM students and scholars will participate Aug. 11-21 in the university's inaugural Cuba Studies Program, which will be among the first such programs established there. The application deadline to participate is May 12.

"These are real exciting times in Cuba, which is moving faster than ever toward a free-market economy," said Dr. Mark Miller, who began planning the program about four years ago with Dr. Tim Hudson, dean of USM's College of International and Continuing Education.

"A lot of small, private restaurants are legal there now for the first time and on a larger scale, the tourism industry is exploding," said Miller, project director and assistant dean of the college.

"Cuba believes a million tourists passed through the country last year. Everybody was there except Americans," added Miller, who revisited the island nation last September with Dr. Tony Henthorne, USM associate professor of marketing, to conduct research for their planned book on Cuban tourism.

Initiation of the USM program has twice been postponed in the past year and a half—in October of 1995 because of "bureaucratic obstacles" involving U.S. Department of Treasury travel restrictions; and in March of 1996 because of heightened tensions sparked by the downing of two U.S. civilian airplanes by Cuban fighter planes.

Miller said, however, conditions are right now to act.

"Both the Cuban government and the U.S. government think it's a good idea," he said. "The Cubans are anxious for Americans to come. They want to work with American researchers and students."

"When we were there last September, we were well received, as always," said Miller, also a professor of geography and area development. "They have a great curiosity about America, as we do about Cuba."

The USM course—titled Cuba Studies: Economic, Social and Tourism Development—will offer three semester-hours of undergraduate or graduate credit in Geography, Hotel, Restaurant and Tourism Management, or Economic Development. University professors may conduct individual research.

Participants will stay in the vicinity of beautiful, historic Old Havana. The trip also includes two nights in Varadero Beach, a rapidly growing international tourism center.

Licensed by the U.S. government as an educational and research program, lectures and group field visits are planned to the University of Havana, government agencies, historic and tourism attractions, museums, emerging private enterprises, a paper factory and other important sites.

The cost (double occupancy, including from New Orleans via Miami) is $2,000 for tuition and $1,500 for program costs and $1,000 for travel and lodging. An additional $500 is required for single occupancy.

Registration will be on a first-come, first-served basis. For information and application materials, contact Miller at (601) 266-4344; fax (601) 266-4344; or e-mail lalka@digimagic.net.

England Scholarship to boost women's opportunities

William R. England wants to help other women get the education his wife Mary never had. So in January, he established the Mary Elizabeth England Scholarship in his wife's memory.

"I wanted to establish a scholarship so that a worthy female student could receive a college education to help prepare her to reach higher goals than my wife could reach," said England, of Hattiesburg.

Beginning in the spring of 1998, the endowed scholarship will be awarded to a female student from the College of Business Administration.

Mary England died Sept. 29, 1996, after a long battle with lymphoma. She had worked in the debt management department of the USM Business Office for 18 years, the last eight as supervisor.

"Mary always encouraged young women to get an education and to be ambitious and industrious. For that reason, I have taken it on myself to provide this scholarship to give more women opportunities," said her husband.

He described his wife as a warm, loving person, always concerned about others.

"She used to buy copies of the book The Greatest Thing in the World by the dozen and give them to people," he said. "When she read it, it transformed her life, and she wanted to share that with others."

During her long hospital stay, he said, her nurses came to love her. But one particularly cantankerous woman failed to be moved.

"Mary said, 'I'm going to get her. One day I came in and Mary was so excited. I did it,' she said. 'I nailed her. I made her smile!'"

Mary England's working career began at age 16 when her father's death made it necessary for her to drop out of high school. Later, she earned a high school equivalency diploma and secured Civil Service jobs with the Treasury and Agriculture departments in Alabama. By the age of 28, she had reached supervisory status.

"She never could take off enough time to get her college degree," England said. "I am so proud of what Mary could achieve without a college degree."

SCHOOL'S OUT FOR SUMMER!

DRIVE

SAFELY!

1. Slow down, look around and be prepared to stop, when approaching playgrounds, parks or other areas where children are likely to be.
2. Drive to suit road and weather conditions.
3. Always observe the speed limit.
4. Never pass a school or camp bus, loading or unloading children.
5. Make sure your vehicle is in good mechanical order. Have the brakes tested regularly.
6. When stopping at an intersection, take an extra second or two to check for children riding bicycles, especially after dark.

We urge you to use extra caution on the roads, since children often forget safety rules, when playing. These common sense reminders are brought to you by The Sea Coast Echo and the following sponsors:
